CFL action. Emotions run high during preparations for the Riders' biggest test so far this season

JEFF MACKEY
jeff.mackey@metronews.ca

At Thursday's Riders practice the only thing hotter than Taylor Field were the tempers of the players practising on it.

Saturday's game against the B.C. Lions will be the biggest test yet for the undefeated Riders, and the players are intent on a victory over the 2011 Grey Cup Champions.

"We go out there and take care of business and let the league know that the Roughriders are for real this year," said Riders running back Kory Sheets. "Everybody is taking this week real serious."

The tension at the practice was palpable and even boiled over when fists were thrown between Chris Patrick and a defensive lineman. The scrum was quickly broken up.

"It was one of those things where you want those guys to play aggressive, and like I said, they are out there on that field and I think they are ... tired of practising against each other," said head coach Corey Chamblin.

At one point in the practice Chamblin stopped the workout to give the team a talking-to.

"No matter how hot it gets, no matter how hard it gets, you have to know you are still a part of the Green and White; nothing should ever turn you against your brother," said Chamblin.

The Riders are expecting an emotionally charged game on Saturday as the B.C. Lions are going to be bringing a solid dose of intensity to Mosaic Stadium.

"B.C. are going to throw a punch here and there and they are going to talk, so we have to keep our composure," said Riders quarterback Darian Durant. "We can't afford to lose anyone due to anything dumb." MORE CFL COVERAGE, PAGE 14

Children's hospital a step closer with $15.5M boost

Funding. Provincial government also gave $200M to the Saskatoon Health Region in 2009

MORGAN MODJESKI
morgan.modjeski@-

The Children's Hospital of Saskatchewan is one step closer to reality as the provincial government announced an increase in funding of $15.5 million Thursday morning at the Children's Hospital Warehouse.

The funding comes on top of $200 million the province gave to the Saskatoon Health Region in 2009. Jackie Mann, vice-president of integrated health services at SHR, explained the increase shows the province's commitment to the project.

"This really allows us to continue on in the direction that we're going with the schematic design that we've developed over the past year," said Mann. "It's an incredibly important step."

Completion is expected in late 2016.

Health care

Patient feedback paramount: Minister

Saskatchewan's Health Minister Dustin Duncan said floor-plan designs contained feedback from consultations with patients and their families— something he says is crucial to providing good service.

Duncan said the patient and family experience could be what's lacking from Saskatchewan's current health-care system.

"For far too long in health care, maybe that was part of it that was missing," said Duncan. "We thought too much about the system itself and not so much about the patient."

He said the Patient First Review in 2009 "renewed our focus on what we're doing this for and that is the patient."

Motorcyclists rev up for weekend rally

Edmonton motorcyclist Brenda Jenkins made concrete tracks to Saskatoon this weekend to show off her Harley-Davidson motorcycle.

Hundreds of Harley-Davidson motorcycles will cruise into Saskatoon this weekend for the fifth annual Prairie Regional Harley Owners Group Rally.

A gathering of Harley-Davidson motorcycle enthusiasts from Saskatchewan. Alberta and Manitoba, HOG has been around North America since 1983 and is sponsored by the motorcycle giant.

Dave and Marlys Bilanski are motorcyclists who helped co-ordinate the HOG Rally in Saskatoon. "It's so exciting to see the reaction of all the people who show up to meet with the other people from other rallies," said Marlys.

Dave, rally co-ordinator, said HOG is all about the celebration of motorcycle culture.

"Some people say they ride motorcycles because they save gas. I ride motorcycles because they're fun," described Dave.

Dave was also excited to see the diversity of bikes.

"You'll see everything from sportsters right through to the full-class terrain bikes, and you also have a lot of bikes in between."

The HOG Rally hosts a parade on July 13 at 6 p.m. Main events on July 14 begin at 10 a.m. with a tattoo contest, show and shine, and bike games.

On the noise

- With Saskatoon's city council investigating the implementation of a noise snare in the city, motorcyclists could be facing steep fines in the future for loud bikes.

"It sucks. I don't agree with it, not at all. It's very subjective. There are lots of other vehicles out there that cause just as much noise," said Edmonton motorcyclist Brenda Jenkins.

Penn State officials showed 'disregard' for victims: Report

Sandusky scandal. Says further abuse could have been prevented had coach, staff acted after 1998 incident

Ex-Penn State coach Joe Paterno. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Joe Paterno and other top Penn State officials hushed up child sex abuse allegations against Jerry Sandusky more than a decade ago for fear of bad publicity, allowing the former assistant football coach to prey on other youngsters, according to a scathing report issued Thursday on the scandal.

"Our most saddening and sobering finding is the total disregard for the safety and welfare of Sandusky's child victims by the most senior leaders at Penn State," said former FBI Director Louis Freeh, who was hired to look into one of sports' biggest scandals.

The firm's 267-page report, following an eight-month probe, stated that sexual abuse might have been prevented if school officials had banned Sandusky from bringing children onto campus after a 1998 inquiry. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Nigeria. Truck explosion kills at least 95 people

A truck carrying fuel veered off the road into a ditch, caught fire and exploded in Nigeria's oil-rich delta on Thursday, killing at least 95 people who had rushed to the scene to scoop fuel that had spilled, an official said, in a tragic reminder of how little of the country's oil wealth has trickled down to the poor.

At least 50 others were injured in the incident in the southern Niger Delta region, said Rivers State spokeswoman Ibim Semenitari.

Witnesses said some charred corpses were still lying in the area hours after the explosion, including bodies the size of children. "What did these small ones know about coming to scoop fuel?" wondered Alagoa Morris, coordinator at advocacy group Oil Watch Nigeria.

He said some women wailed at the scene of the explosion, desperately looking for their relatives. The location of some of the bodies suggested that they were trying to run away when fire consumed them, Morris added.

The fuel truck was trying to avoid a head-on collision with buses when it swerved into the ditch Thursday morning, said police spokesman Ben Ugwuegbulam. It then overturned, leaving its fuel to spill, and people immediately swarmed to the scene. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Missing prosperity

- Despite decades as an oil-producing region, the majority of those living in the Niger Delta remain desperately poor.
- Anger has driven young people to attack foreign oil firms based there, and steal fuel.
- The OPEC member now pumps out about 2.4 million barrels of oil a day, making it Africa's biggest producer.

TD. Iranian community angered by bank bans

Iranian Canadians who've had their bank accounts with one of Canada's biggest banks closed, often without notice, say they feel they're being treated as second-class citizens in their own country.

Members of the community say TD Canada Trust began notifying a number of Iranian-Canadian clients in May that it would no longer provide them with banking services.

Some of the letters sent out earlier this month indicated the bank was closing the accounts in order to comply with Ottawa's economic sanctions against the Iranian regime.

"I've been a Canadian citizen for 10 years and this is the first time I'm feeling that I've been treated differently than a Canadian citizen," says Pooya Sadeghi, who moved to Toronto from Iran 14 years ago.

Sadeghi says the TD account he shared with his wife and her parents was closed two days before he received a letter from the bank on May 2.

"There was no explanation in our letter about why TD was closing the account," he said.

In the past few weeks he found out that many other Iranian Canadians had had their accounts closed in similar circumstances, and that the letters sent to them mentioned Canada's economic sanctions.

Many Western countries, including Canada, have imposed tough sanctions aimed at cracking down on Iran's nuclear program. Tehran says it is developing nuclear power for peaceful purposes, but the international community believes it wants to build a nuclear weapon. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Sounding off

"No Canadians should be subject to this. A discrimination and charter challenge should be in place."

French Alps. Avalanche kills 9 mountain climbers

They set out before dawn, hoping to conquer a mountaineering classic: Mont Blanc, Western Europe's highest peak. But below the prized summit, a climber is believed to have accidentally caused a slab of ice to snap off, triggering an avalanche Thursday that swept nine climbers to their deaths and injured a dozen others.

As the sheet of snow and ice thundered down the steep slope, several other climbers managed to turn away from the slide in time, regional authorities in Haute-Savoie said.

Two climbers were rescued as emergency crews using dogs and helicopters scoured the churned-up, high-altitude area in a frantic search for the missing. Three Britons, three Germans, two Spaniards and one Swiss climber were among the dead.

Early summer storms left behind heavy snow that combined with high winds to form dangerous overhanging conditions on some of the popular climbing routes around Mont Blanc. Regional authorities had warned climbers to be careful because of an unusually snowy spring. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Syria. Ambassador joins string of notable defectors

A string of high-profile defections from the Syrian regime has stirred hopes in the West that President Bashar Assad's inner circle will start abandoning him in greater numbers, hastening his downfall.

But the tightly protected regime has largely held together over the course of the 16-month-old uprising, driven by a mixture of fear and loyalty.

The latest official to flee, the Syrian ambassador to Iraq, Nawaf Fares, announced that he was joining the revolution, asserting Thursday that only force will drive Assad from power. He is the most senior diplomat to abandon Assad.

"There is no road map ever with Bashar Assad, because any plan, any statement that is agreed on internationally he delays on and ignores," Fares told the Al-Jazeera satellite channel.

"There is no way that he can be pushed from power without force, and the Syrian people realize this."

Syria's Foreign Ministry denounced Fares, saying he should face "legal and disciplinary accountability."

In Washington, State Department spokesman Patrick Ventrell hailed what he called the "first major diplomatic defection," adding: "We think this is a wider sign that the regime is feeling the pressure. The pressure is up and the regime is really starting to fall apart."

Fares is the second prominent Syrian to break with the regime in less than a week. Brig. Gen. Manaf Tlass, an Assad confidant and son of a former defence minister, defected last week, but has not spoken publicly. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Nuke tension. U.S. slaps new sanctions on Iran

The Obama administration on Thursday hit Iran with more sanctions designed to hinder the country's nuclear and ballistic missile programs.

The Treasury Department announced new financial sanctions against 11 companies affiliated with the Iranian defence ministry, Revolutionary Guard Corps and national shipping line as well as a university, all for actions they took to support the programs. Several of the firms are already subject to U.S. and European sanctions.

Treasury also slapped penalties on four men, including an Austrian national and three Iranians, for similar activity.

"Iran today is under intense, multilateral sanctions pressure, and we will continue to ratchet up the pressure so long as Iran refuses to address the international community's well-founded concerns about its nuclear program," said David Cohen, Treasury's undersecretary for terrorism and financial intelligence. "Today's actions are our next step on that path, taking direct aim at disrupting Iran's nuclear and ballistic missile programs as well as its deceptive efforts to use front companies to sell and move its oil."

Taliban take their revenge on police

Pakistan. Gunmen kill nine, injure eight in retaliation for torture of Taliban fighters

Taliban gunmen opened fire on a compound housing policemen in eastern Pakistan on Thursday, killing nine of them, officials said.

The police who were targeted in the city of Lahore were training to become prison guards, said Habibur Rehman, the chief of police in Punjab province, where Lahore is the capital.

Pakistani Taliban spokesman Ahsanullah Ahsan claimed responsibility for the attack, saying it was revenge for the police torture of their fighters in prison. He spoke to The Associated Press by telephone from an undisclosed location.

The police who were attacked were recruited from northwest Khyber Pakhtunkhwa province, a one-time base for the Taliban, and were brought to Lahore for training, said Rehman.

Eight policemen also suffered bullet wounds, said Salman Saddiq, a government official.

One of the wounded, Shafqat Imran, said that eight to ten attackers, their faces hidden behind hoods, stormed into the compound and started shooting randomly.

They shouted "God is great," then shot the policemen one by one, said Imran, speaking from a hospital bed.

The Pakistani military launched a massive offensive against the Taliban in Khyber Pakhtunkhwa's Swat Valley in 2009, and many militants were captured and imprisoned.

Police said they suspect the gunmen who attacked the housing compound were the same ones who killed seven soldiers and a policeman at an army camp Monday about 160 kilometres northwest of Lahore.

Afghans ready for peace: Retiring U.S. ambassador

Moderate Taliban figures have expressed interest in the fragile peace process, the outgoing U.S. ambassador to Afghanistan said Thursday, referring to a deal that appears even more elusive with this summer's rash of suicide attacks and bombings.

Ryan Crocker, who is retiring a year earlier than expected, also said he thinks it's unlikely that the departure of most foreign troops by 2014 will plunge the country into another civil war or prompt a precipitous economic slide.

"I tend to consider those unlikely scenarios," Crocker said in an interview in Kabul.

Crocker said the international community has pledged support for Afghanistan post-2014. And he said minority ethnic political leaders seem more interested in positioning themselves in the next Afghan administration than bracing for a civil war like the one that led to the rise of the Taliban after the Soviet exit in 1989.

"Politics is breaking out all over," he said of the uptick in political activity ahead of the Afghan presidential election in 2014. "You don't see many signs of the people saying 'Well, it's time to start digging the trenches again.'"

Members of all ethnic factions are part of the security forces, but some fear without international troops, the nation could split along ethnic lines, prompting another civil war.

Supreme Court reins in array of copyright fees

Rights levy. Top court rules on five different cases involving tariffs set by the Copyright Board

The Supreme Court of Canada has reined in the application of copyright fees levied on music, movies, video games and printed materials that Canadians download and copy in different ways. The top court examined five different cases at once that touched on tariffs set by the Copyright Board.

One of the biggest cases involved ministers of education and school boards from across the country versus Access Copyright. The two sides had butted heads at the Copyright Board over how much schools had to pay for the right to photocopy parts of books for students.

In a 5-4 decision, the Court found that the Copyright Board had incorrectly treated teachers differently when they photocopied materials for their students, "driving an artificial wedge into these unified purposes of instruction and research/private study."

The four other cases involved the layering on of fees for works based on the way they are transmitted to the consumer.

The court decided unanimously that there should be no copyright fees levied on cable companies or other digital providers when music is downloaded, but that artists should be compensated when it is streamed online.

The music downloading and streaming decision was linked to another one that dealt with software companies that sell their video games online. The court found in a 5-4 decision that those firms shouldn't pay royalties for the music that's featured in those video games every time a consumer downloads a product online.

Finally, cable and other Internet providers should not have to pay fees when music downloaders listen to previews of songs. The court found unanimously that those previews constituted research and therefore did not infringe on the Copyright Act.

Earnings. Canadian banks under pressure

Canada's biggest banks are taking a closer look at ways to reduce their expenses this summer as they prepare for slower earnings growth, according to a new report from Barclays.

Analyst John Aiken, who released a broad overview of the country's banking industry on Thursday, said that cost controls are near the top of the list for the industry as it grapples with tighter revenues.

The banks will look at ways to make their technical operations more efficient to save time and money, but if that doesn't create enough savings, jobs could be in jeopardy, he suggested.

"If this environment continues, you may need to see some more dramatic cost-cutting measures put in place," Aiken said in an interview.

However, Aiken said that some banks are looking at routes such as changing variable compensation structures to defer some payments, rather than simply the more immediate relief of cutting jobs.

"Process improvement to create more efficiencies ... will take a longer time frame to reap the expected benefits," he noted.

Bank of Montreal chief executive Bill Downe highlighted the bank's continuing plans to lower costs across its operations as part of a long-term review that examines all of its businesses.

Some of those savings will be recognized through the closure of 24 of its U.S. BMO Harris bank branches in the U.S. Midwest, which is expected to trim $300 million US — though integration and restructuring costs are expected to be $600 million over the next few years.

National Bank and Royal Bank were also vocal about their cost-management plans.

The report said that TD Bank is likely to spend more attention on compensation plans that discourage risk-taking. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Labour. Most new jobs high-quality: CIBC report

A new look at Canada's labour market reveals the first six months of 2012 have seen a big improvement in the quality of jobs that have been created.

It is already known that Canada's economy churned out 155,000 new jobs in the first half of this year, more than economists had expected, the CIBC says in its latest report on employment quality.

But the bigger surprise is that most of those jobs have been of the full-time and high-paying variety.

That is a break from past CIBC reports on job quality, which have tended to show that a higher proportion of employment created since the 2008-09 recession has tended to be in the lower-paying service sector, or has been part-time or self-employment.

The report cautions job quality is expected to fall back in the second half of this year, but for the moment there is something to celebrate in an overall glum economic landscape, said Benjamin Tal, CIBC's deputy chief economist.

Vow to stay on budget when planning a wedding

Wedding costs add up quickly, but renting a dress could be an option for a bride on a budget, costing a few hundred dollars. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Many young couples dream of throwing a huge traditional wedding, surrounded by throngs of family members and friends, followed by a reception that guests will always remember.

But it's essential for young people to start off on the right foot financially, particularly those who are weighed down by large student debts and starting off a new career.

To ensure your dreams don't get the best of your finances, think about how you can create a memorable occasion all the while putting expenses under the microscope.

Costs add up quickly, and before you know it, your wedding could run a tab of up to $20,000 or more.

Websites like Weddingwire.com or theknot.com can help break down potential costs.

If you opt to have the wedding away from home, throwing a pre-wedding party to include friends and family in the celebration is an idea.

Friends and family helping with the food preparation is a great way to save money and also adds a personal touch to the party.

Renting a dress could also be an option for a bride on a budget, costing a few hundred dollars.

You could also opt for a homemade cake and appetizers, as well as simpler finger foods, or skip the dinner portion altogether and invite guests for a night of dancing. Closing the bar during dinner, or opting for a cash bar can also help cut costs significantly.

Destination weddings allow the bride and groom to save money because your wedding and honeymoon can be rolled into one. When held at an all-inclusive, there are few outside costs — and even dinner and drinks are included in the initial price tag.

It also helps keep the guest list small because friends and family front their own costs for the vacation.

If you are having a wedding at home, try limiting your guest list, choosing a date off peak season or on a less popular day than Saturday.

A fancier, more extravagant wedding won't necessarily make it any more romantic or memorable, but it could cost you a lifetime of debt if you're not careful.

1 The Blacker the Berry.... RIM CEO Thorsten Heins announced that the BlackBerry 10 launch will be delayed until the first quarter of 2013. Surely, this is a shrewd ploy to lure iPhone and Android producers into a false sense of success during peak purchasing season before unleashing their messianic unicorn upon an economically depressed public just teeming with buyer's remorse. That'll show 'em.

2 1,000 words. There is nothing funny about the wildfires that ravaged the western U.S., but pictures of the disaster captured by astronauts have given the International Space Station the distinction of "most expensive camera" in the universe.

3 Reverse psychology. U.S. Republican presidential candidate Mitt Romney was booed at the NAACP annual conference, and responded by saying, "If I don't stand for what they want, go vote for someone else." Nice strategy. I wonder if that could become his new campaign slogan.

4 Katie's cruisin'. Kudos to the recently divorced Holmes and Tom Cruise for achieving a settlement that was quicker and more mature than a Kim Kardashian marriage.

5 Career legacy. After eight Oscar nominations, four Golden Globes, a BAFTA and an Emmy, 80-year-old, Royal Academy-trained Peter O'Toole, announced his retirement from showbiz this week. His statement triggered an immediate outcry on Twitter: "OMG. That's the dude that played the voice of Anton in Ratatouille."

6 Behind the mask. Rock star Marilyn Manson responded to a rumour that he was dating Avril Lavigne by saying, "F–k that, she's Canadian," demonstrating once again the fine line between musical genius and complete ignoramus.

7 Is this love? Among Caribbean coral reefs, there exists a small species of "gnathiids" that will now be known as Gnathia marleyi. Paul Sikkel, marine biologist at Arkansas State University, says he named them after Bob Marley because they are "a natural wonder and as uniquely Caribbean." I am sure that Bob's family cannot fathom a greater honour than to have his name attached to a parasitic crustacean blood feeder that infests fish.

8 Spaced out. Astronomers using NASA's Hubble Space Telescope discovered a fifth moon orbiting Pluto. I have absolutely no idea what this means.

9 Muppet music. Can you tell me how to get to Sesame Street? Well, it seems that all you need is a massive hit like Canadian sensation Carly Rae Jepsen's Call Me Maybe. A snack-inspired version entitled Share It Maybe, performed by the legendary Cookie Monster has received thousands of YouTube hits this week, solidifying the 45-year-old muppet's place in the annals of popular music. Eat your heart out, Marilyn Manson.

It's Reggae Sumfest with R. Kelly, Lady Saw, Damian Marley, Trey Songz and more. You're young. You may not remember it, but you won't regret it. Irie.

Dog days of summer have just begun

An unidentified Great Dane inspects one of the many fountains at the new Alabama Dream Dog Park in Alabaster, Ala., Thursday.

The $500,000 US renovation creates a dog park with many unique features, which include custom-designed splash pads to keep dogs cool during hot Alabama summers, a fetch football field with fire hydrant goal posts, a hill that dogs and owners can climb together to enjoy the view, a doggie-wash station, and an adventure path with tunnels and agility hoops, among others.

The concept for the park came from former Shelby Humane Society executive director Jenny Wilson, who won the Beneful dream dog park contest.

"It's so much more than I could have ever imagined," Wilson told local media after taking her dogs Honey Belle and Baxter, through the park. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ice Age: Continental Drift suffers from a lazy script. HANDOUT

Critique

Children weigh in…

Forget what the crabby adults have to say, Ice Age: Continental Drift is aimed squarely at the kids. My sons — junior film critics Jack,5, and Elliot, 3, — joined Richard and I at a recent screening and had plenty to say about the experience. "I liked the 3D," said Jack, who usually tosses his glasses out of frustration mid-way through the film. As for little Elliot, at one point during Ice Age's relentless slapstick shtick, he laughed, shook his head, turned to me and in a voice loud enough that the entire theatre could hear him said "Dad, this is REALLY stupid!" Out of the mouths of babes….

RICHARD CROUSE AND MARK BRESLIN

Ice Age pleases kids, freezes out adults

Tired and trite. Latest installment of this family franchise has the reviewers counting the years till these characters are extinct

Richard: Chris, I loved the Simpsons short that plays before Ice Age. It's a funny, gently paced thriller for kids with jokes that parents and film geeks will love. In fact, I wanted more of that and less of Ice Age. The main feature is nicely animated but is saddled with a story so by-the-book it feels like it would have been old hat even in the ice age. That's my take. You, however, had two of the world's youngest film critics with you. What did they think?

Chris: Indeed, I brought my sons Jack, 5, and Elliot,3, with me and as you'll read in the sidebar, they were more impressed than I. Now, I'd watch a movie about lawn darts if it was in 3D, so my eyeballs were pleased by all the razzle dazzle. But other than that … Ice Age left me kinda numb. And here's my biggest problem with the picture and all of the Ice Age films … Manny the Mammoth.... you can't see his mouth. He has NO expressions. The dullest animated hero in recent memory.

RC: Manny's not aided by a lazy script that feels like it was run through the Cliché-O-Matic. The theme — family and friends mean everything — has been done before and better. Couple that with jokes that come out of nowhere and feel tacked on, and you're left with a movie that is as lifeless as Manny's expression.

CA: Absolutely. It also doesn't help that dead-eyed Manny is voiced by Ray Romano, whose velvet tones remind me of a post-pubescent Kermit the Frog. The rest of the cast phones it in too (maybe literally!), obviously due in part to that sleepy script you've mentioned. The only one that registers is Game of Thrones' Peter Dinklage, who is monstrous and scuzzy as the pirate monkey Caption Gutt.

RC: Agreed. Dinklage is horrifying and scuzzy, in a good way. Also horrifying: they still have 20,000 years of history and sequel potential to go.

CA: Until they end up in space, right? But our gripes won't stop the kids from dragging their parents to it this weekend.

Synopsis

The movie begins the saber-toothed squirrel Scrat's efforts to protect his only possession — his prized acorn — lead to the great Continental Drift. As the earth shifts, woolly mammoth Manny (Ray Romano), Sid the sloth (John Leguizamo) and Diego the smilodon (Dennis Leary) get separated from their families. Their journey to reunite with their kin puts them directly into the path of ape pirate Captain Gutt (Peter Dinklage). Chris Alexander sits in for Mark Breslin.

Christian Bale needs a moment alone

The Dark Knight Rises. Actor dishes about how he overcame his claustrophobia in the name of fighting crime and saving Gotham

NED EHRBAR
Metro World News in Hollywood

For Christian Bale, who's played Batman three times now for Christopher Nolan, creating a role that redefined both the legendary character and the British actor, the last time he put on the bat suit was a lot like the first time — and in each instance he needed a bit of alone time.

"The first time I ever put on the actual one myself I thought, 'Oh, Chris has to (re-do) the cast.' Because the claustrophobia was just unbelievable," Bale remembers.

"I stood there and I thought, 'I can't breathe, I can't think, this is too tight, this is squeezing my head, I'm gonna panic, I'm about to have a nervous breakdown, a panic attack right this second.' So I said, 'Can everyone just leave me alone for 20 minutes?'"

The break did the trick, as Bale estimates he's spent 21 months of his life under Batman's cowl — with some improvements over the years, like giving Bale the ability to take it off whenever he needed. And when the final day of shooting in the suit arrived — a scene that paired Bale with Anne Hathaway's Catwoman on a New York City rooftop — Bale found himself feeling a similar need for privacy, though for a different reason.

"I was wrapped, and I just went down and sat in a room and I realized, 'This is it. I'm not gonna be taking this cowl off again,'" Bale says.

"So again, I said, 'Can you please leave me alone for 20 minutes?' and sat with that moment. It was a very important moment for me. It's been a very important character, and the movies themselves have changed my life and changed my career. So I wanted to just appreciate that."

Speaking of time, Bale couldn't really tell you how long anything took to film in the massive superhero flick because he intentionally wasn't paying attention — in order to save his sanity. "You know, there's such long schedules on these movies. I don't like to think about time, otherwise I get depressed," he says.

"So I just sort of do it as though it's like one day at a time for me. Because if you look and go, 'Oh, only 124 days left,' it gets tricky to get up at four in the morning."

Drama

Edwin Boyd: Citizen Gangster

Director. Nathan Morlando

Stars. Scott Speedman, Kelly Reilly, Kevin Durand

The movie does a good job of showing how Boyd went from respectable veteran/bus driver/son of a cop to a fixture on the Canadian most wanted charts. It's not the romp Public Enemy was, instead it's a contemplative movie more about why Boyd (nicely played by Scott Speedman) robbed banks rather than about the robberies themselves.

Hysteria

Director. Tanya Wexler

Stars. Maggie Gyllenhaal, Hugh Dancy, Jonathan Pryce

Set in nineteenth century London, Hysteria is a rom com about Mortimer Granville (Hugh Dancy), a young handsome doctor whose hand cramps led directly to the invention of the vibrator. As social commentary it's lightweight, and a movie about the invention of the tool that revolutionized sexuality should focus on that and not the predictable rom com love triangle. I expected more than a comedy of manners with an off-colour edge from the story. As such, this is a rental, not a night out.

RICHARD CROUSE

Comedy

To Rome with Love

Director. Woody Allen

Stars. Woody Allen, Penelope Cruz, Alec Baldwin

To Rome with Love is well-meaning, but feels like something Woody Allen would have written 40 years ago. It's an episodic screwball comedy with loads of characters, identity mix-ups and the comic's trademarked highbrow references — will today's audience get a Howard Roark joke? It has the same kind of farcical feel and references of his earlier work — look for older men paired with younger women, anxiety and discussions on foreign film — but written decades ago it might have been funnier.

OUR TAKE ON THE WORLD OF CELEBRITIES

More stripping may be in the cards for Channing

Channing Tatum isn't surprised his semi-autobiographical male stripper movie, Magic Mike, is a success — and he's already got a sequel planned.

"We're working on the concept now," he tells the U.K. edition of Glamour magazine. "We want to flip the script and make it bigger."

Meanwhile, Tatum is more than happy to throw his hat into the ring when it comes to who should star in the film adaptation of the steamy hit novel Fifty Shades of Grey — under the condition that he co-star with real-life wife Jenna Dewan. "I'd only be allowed if my wife was Ana. She's read the books so I don't think she'd be impressed if she couldn't be Ana," he tells the magazine.

Katie Holmes and Tom Cruise

It's all about saving face, says attorney

Tom Cruise apparently knew Katie Holmes would win their divorce battle, which is why the pair reached a settlement so quickly, divorce attorney Debra Opri insists to Hollyscoop.

"Katie's main concern was getting sole custody of Suri, and Tom wanted to protect his public image and keep the divorce out of the media as much as possible," Opri says.

"In most celebrity divorces, image is the upmost concern because that is how they make their (income). In the end, they all want the same thing: to save their public image."

Trouble on set for Bullock's movie

Sandra Bullock's new cop film, The Heat, is seeing its share of action this week while filming in Boston.

First, a bus collided with a truck from the production, resulting in injuries for 15 people, according to Yahoo's Movie Talk.

And the next day, a fight broke out one block from where the film is shooting, resulting in a fatal stabbing in which one man was killed and two men were injured.

More trouble in the Moore household?

MONICA WEYMOUTH
scene@metronews.ca

After her split from Ashton Kutcher and subsequent rehab trip, Demi Moore has been spotted out and about looking pretty great — or at least alive enough. But it seems not all is well with her family just yet.

"There's a wedge between Demi and her girls," a source tells Us Weekly of her daughters, Rumer, Scout and Tallulah.

According to the source, Demi didn't speak to them at Tallulah's high school graduation last month.

"Demi is beside herself over the situation," a family friend tells RadarOnline.com. "She hasn't spoken to Scout, Rumer or Tallulah for weeks now, they won't return any of her calls, emails or texts."

Rich people, take note: If your teenagers don't need your car for the weekend, it's quite possible that you will never hear from them again.

Andrew Garfield. ALL PHOTOS GETTY IMAGES

Spider Man vs. Edward Cullen

Andrew Garfield might be young and British with hair you want to shove your face in, but don't compare the Amazing Spider-Man star to Robert Pattinson.

"The truth is, Andrew can't stand Rob. He hates that they're put in the same category because they're both English and around the same age," a source tells Us Weekly.

"Andrew considers himself a 'serious actor' and sees Rob as the equivalent of a cheesy boy-bander because of Twilight."

Spider-Man vs. Edward Cullen: Why do we have a feeling this ends in a snuggle pile of fangs?

A princess for the Queen?

Queen Latifah is looking to start a family via adoption, she revealed on a visit to The View this week.

"I'm actually kind of working on that," the actress/rapper said when asked by Barbara Walters if she'd ever consider adopting a child.

"I think I saw one of those specials — you know, those movies of the week. And it was like, I just always wanted to bring a child home."

Polish vodka shows its sweet side

I like ice cream as much as the next guy, but I never thought there would ever be a reason to want to make my own — until I read Ice Cream Happy Hour ($16.95, Ulysses Press) by Valerie Lum and Jenise Addison.

Though you'll need an ice cream maker to create these ladies' boozy treats from scratch, their simple, spirit-laden recipes are amazingly easy to create and open the door to dozens of cocktail-inspired desserts that scream summer.

If that all sounds too much like a Food Network series gone wrong, you can cheat your way to spiked frozen treats through a gazillion Internet recipes that mix pre-made ice cream with every imaginable combination of liqueurs and hard liquor.

Vodka is the foundation of many a creamy creation and one with a bit of guts adds to the glory of any icy, adult-oriented endeavor.

The Poles know their way around a neutral spirit and, apparently, so does actor Bruce Willis. Mr. Die Hard is a part owner of Sobieski ($22.62 - $27.98), Poland's top ranked, rye-based vodka that combined a muscular expression of flavour with a well-rounded, grainy personality.

A whole new way to scream for ice cream

Summertime Ice Cream Sandwiches.
Add a bit more pizzazz to your fave frozen treats with cookies and sweet toppings

1. Heat the oven to 350 F. Line 2 baking sheets with parchment paper or lightly coat with cooking spray.

2. Place 1/4 cup of the sugar in a shallow dish or pie pan. In a large bowl, use an electric mixer to beat together the remaining 1 cup of sugar, the butter, vanilla, almond extract and rum until light and fluffy. Add the egg, scraping down the sides of the bowl and mixing until well incorporated. Stir in the flour, salt and baking powder.

3. Scoop the dough by the tablespoonful and form into balls. One at a time, place each ball of dough in the sugar in the shallow dish. Roll around until all sides are coated. Arrange the sugared balls of dough on the prepared baking sheet, leaving 2 inches between them to allow for spreading. Bake for 12 to 15 minutes, or until the edges are just beginning to brown. Allow to cool on the baking sheet.

4. While the cookies cool, remove the sherbet or sorbet and ice cream from the freezer. One at a time, microwave for 10 to 15 seconds, or just long enough to soften. In a large bowl, combine the two flavours and use a rubber spatula to swirl them together. Do not overmix or completely blend them.

5. Overturn 1 cookie and place about 1 tablespoon of the ice cream mixture on it. Top with a second cookie and gently squeeze together. Return to the freezer until firm. If not serving right away, wrap tightly in plastic wrap and store in the freezer. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

- 1 egg
- 2 cups all-purpose flour
- 1/4 tsp salt
- 1/2 tsp baking powder
- 3/4 cup orange sherbet, raspberry sorbet or other fruity frozen dessert

Only for serious sundae and chocolate lovers

This recipe makes one serving. THE CANADIAN PRESS H/O

Whether homemade or store-bought, chocolate brownies are a favourite of many children and adults. Adding vanilla or mint ice cream will make a sundae that is sure to please everyone.

This is a fun dessert to make for family gatherings or for kids' parties.

The recipe serves one but to make more sundaes, simply multiply the ingredients by the number of servings that are needed.

1. Place bottom half of brownie on a dessert plate. Top with 1/2 scoop of the ice cream.

2. Top with remaining brownie half. Place remaining ice cream on top and drizzle with candy-shell chocolate topping. When topping is firm, drizzle with sundae syrup.

3. Garnish plate and dessert with toasted coconut and sprinkles, if using.

Celebrate

A day just for frozen goodness

If you're looking for more of a reason to enjoy everyone's favourite summer treat, consider that this Sunday is National Ice Cream Day. Invented in 1984 by American president Ronald Reagan (who actually declared all of July National Ice Cream Month and the third Sunday in July National Ice Cream Day), the festivities have spread to Canada. Reagan recognized the popularity of ice cream in the United States (90 per cent of the nation's population consumes ice cream) and stated that these two events should be observed with "appropriate ceremonies and activities." Meanwhile, according to data from the NPD Group, Canadians ate more than 121 million servings of ice cream at quick-service restaurants in 2011.

"In trying to convey my feelings about a few issues that I am passionate about, I made the mistake of naming some specific players. This was inappropriate and unfair to those players, some of which are very close friends of mine."

Reggie Jackson says he messed up by disparaging Alex Rodriguez, Gary Carter and other big names in baseball and has been reaching out to make apologies. Jackson, a Hall of Famer, had told Sports Illustrated that Rodriguez's statistics were tainted by the Yankees star's admitted use of performance-enhancing drugs. Jackson also said he didn't see Carter, Kirby Puckett, Phil Niekro, Don Sutton and Jim Rice as Hall members. Jackson is a special adviser with the New York Yankees. The Yankees had told Jackson to stay away from the clubhouse and team events following his pointed remarks to the magazine, a person familiar with the situation told The Associated Press earlier this week.

Simon Whitfield to bear Canadian flag

Olympics. Triathlete also carried flag for Canada at closing ceremony in Sydney

Triathlete, and new flag-bearer, Simon Whitfield waves the Canadian flag at a ceremony Thursday on Parliament Hill. FRED CHARTRAND/THE CANADIAN PRESS

Some consider it a jinx, others too much of a distraction, but Simon Whitfield says being Canada's flag-bearer will be his secret weapon.

The 37-year-old triathlete will lead the Canadian team into the opening ceremonies at the London Olympics later this month.

Whitfield won a gold medal for Canada at the 2000 Sydney Games where triathlon made its Olympic debut, and then captured a silver at the 2008 Beijing Games.

And the native of Kingston, Ont., suggested Thursday after being introduced as flag-bearer that the honour of carrying the Maple Leaf will help him reach the podium once again.

"It's a good luck charm," he said after accepting the flag during a ceremony on Parliament Hill. "Look at the guys, the people who have carried it — it's so last century that it's a jinx."

Canada's flag-bearer for the 2010 Winter Olympics was Clara Hughes, who went on to win a bronze medal in speedskating.

At the 2008 Beijing Games, kayaker Adam van Koeverden won a silver medal in the 500 metres after carrying the flag, though he also finished a disappointing eighth in the 1,000.

Diver Alexandre Despatie had also been considered a contender to be named flag-bearer for London but said recently he would decline the offer. While it's a great honour, he said, it's also a "great distraction." THE CANADIAN PRESS

MLB. Blue Jays ink 3-year pact with Encarnacion

Edwin Encarnacion celebrates the game-winning run against the Los Angeles Angels of Anaheim in June at the Rogers Centre. ABELIMAGES/GETTY IMAGES

Edwin Encarnacion's time with the Toronto Blue Jays appeared to be over after a rough 2010 season that saw him demoted to triple-A and ultimately put on waivers.

Two years later, Encarnacion is one of the Blue Jays' most potent weapons in a lineup loaded with offensive potential. And now there is no more uncertainty concerning his immediate future.

The Blue Jays rewarded Encarnacion for his dramatic turnaround Thursday, signing the first baseman to a three-year deal worth $27 million US with a $10-million club option for the 2016 season.

"I'm very happy to be part of this organization for the next three years," Encarnacion said at a news conference. "That's why I signed to stay here. I love this country, I love Toronto and I love the fans."

"We've really seen him grow as a player, grow as someone who quietly leads in the clubhouse as well that's very well-respected," said Blue Jays general manager Alex Anthopoulos.

Chamblin a force on the sideline

The 2-0 Roughies host the undefeated B.C. Lions on Saturday. An upset win and a 3-0 record would certainly be impressive following a terrible 2011, and would likely trigger early lobbying for Corey Chamblin as coach of the year.

Road to recovery?

Four road games is no way to start the season, but this week the Bombers face the Edmonton Eskimos. The Esks managed just one point last week in Regina and should inspire the Winnipeg defence to rediscover its swagger.

No one buying Benevides' bluff

Mike Benevides, coach of the Lions, is calling the Riders the CFL's best team prior to the battle of 2-0 squads on Saturday in Regina. Nice try, but the Grey Cup champs are clearly the best until someone knocks them off.

Burris looking for last laugh in T.O.

The Argos might face their toughest test of the season in a showdown with the 0-2 Ticats. QB Henry Burris appeared to be headed to Toronto in the off-season before the Ricky Ray-Steven Jyles trade. Burris would love to make them regret their decision.
